CREW Member Highlight Ryan Engel -EPIC Response

Anyone who knows Ryan Engel would agree that he loves to network with other professionals – and they would be right! After more than two years of membership in CREW Atlanta and extensive experience in other commercial real estate organizations, Ryan has admittedly stated, “CREW is an excellent organization! It is undeniable that women of influence in the Commercial Real Estate Industry are going to be well organized, passionate, and successful in every endeavor, especially in CREW Atlanta!”

Ryan’s involvement ranges from work on the Communications Committee, Membership Committee and he is now serving as a Vice Chair for the ACE Committee. He has been thrilled to be involved in every part of CREW Atlanta’s growing membership, and is a firm believer of the adage “do it well, or don’t do it at all.” The fruits of his active involvement with CREW have been noticed through increased membership, inclusion of new ideas from the board, and a keen sense of recognizing the power of connecting people.

An Atlanta native, Ryan graduated from The Westminster Schools and then obtained a Bachelor of the Arts Degree in Political Science from the University of Georgia. CREW has been an integral part of his career advancement through the vast resources of information, education and programs that it has to offer. “CREW has helped me immensely with my career, not only by increasing company sales, but by spurring invaluable long term professional relationships that would have been otherwise unattainable,” he proclaims. And when it comes to CREW network connections, Ryan has been awarded business through these relationships, both at HighGrove Partners, and also with his new position at EPIC Response. CREW networking at its best!

As division manager of commercial real estate for new and existing business for EPIC Response, Ryan comments “I love my job at EPIC Response. It gives me the ability to help management companies prepare their teams for unthinkable, often unavoidable, emergencies on their properties.” For him, helping fellow industry professionals is a top priority, and CREW provides the perfect opportunity to make a positive difference in the commercial real estate industry. Ryan looks forward to continued growth and participation in CREW Atlanta.
